Nationwide Microbank has won the 2012 PNGID Award for the most innovative company in Papua New Guinea, for the development of their MiCash Mobile Wallet and Bank Account.

The award was presented to the team from Nationwide Microbank, at the prestigious PNGID Business Awards ceremony, on August 9 2012.

There are a number of areas where Nationwide Microbank can be considered innovative: including bio metric technology (scanning of fingerprints, marks & signatures on account opening), photographing all its 100,000 customers & the introduction of instantaneous account openings in villages, using smart phone technology.

But it is through the introduction of the MiCash Mobile Wallet & Bank Account, considered to be the leading innovation not only in PNG, but on an international scale, that stood out.

This is the first bank led deployment of a mobile wallet in the South Pacific
